Auction raises over Two Hundred Dollars for BAT!

Dave Carey, one of the "Founding Members" of Baltimore Area Woodturners, passed away this spring. As many of you know Dave had lung cancer and was courageous in his battle with the disease. Dave's wife, Luaine, contacted Chris Kuehn to see if the club could use any of the turning stock that Dave had collected. BAT Members decided that an auction of the items would provide the most benefit to the club. Bidding was fast and furious with several members wallets well drained by the end of the night. Thank you Luaine for your kind gesture!

Along with Dave's collection several blanks were donated to the club by David Driver. David operates "Arbour X", a local tree service. Thanks Dave!

"Back to Basics" a huge success ..

September's meeting topic was "Back to Basics" with members manning the Lathes and Grinder to share their knowledge.

Lou Rundinski showed how to get that perfect grind on Bowl Gouges. Several questions about proper angles were covered by Lou.

David Reed Smith showed us that the "Skew" is really our friend. David demonstrated how to roll beads with confidence with the much feared tool.

Chris Kuehn provided tips on rough turning a green bowl.

Gerry Meekins took a roughed and dried bowl and remounted it for finish turning.

Board members have had so much positive feed back that "Back to Basics" will be repeated a couple of times each year.

“My interest and experience is not just within the world of woodturning, but extends into furniture design, traditional joinery, carving and sculpture, making and using hand-planes, wood bending, vacuum veneering, and guitar making.”

November Meeting Info

Our November meeting will feature Ed Kelle demonstrating his techniques for enhancing turnings with carving and airbrushing.

Ed is a member of The Long Island Woodworkers Club. One of Ed's turnings was featured in the Critique at the AAW Louisville Symposium and Ed received a third place in the AAW Forums Summer 2006 Embellished Platter Contest. Neil Scobie and Marilyn Campbell were the judges and here's what they had to say about Ed's work. "This piece appears extremely well turned and textured. The way the bottom of the platter follows the top shape works well while the addition of bleach highlights the textured carving."
